Trust, Respect and Reliability

All medical and financial information of clients is considered confidential by Caring Hearts. We effectively screen, test, manage and evaluate personnel for the purpose of fully satisfying the needs of our clients.

We acknowledge and fulfill our obligations as an equal opportunity employer. We respect employee's rights and uniformly apply written personnel policies. We observe all payroll and taxation laws and protect our clients and employees with appropriate insurance.

There's no place like home.

GLORIA M. HAYES, founder and CEO of Caring Hearts, wants to make a positive loving difference in the lives of the people we serve. Her goals are founded on the belief in the human potential of seniors and the disabled. Caring Hearts continues the tradition of quality service and confidential care, with our daily work dedicated to meeting these goals.
